DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1, 5-63, 65-67, 69-72 and 74 are pending in the application.

Election/Restrictions

The subject matter of claim 65 is directed to an invention which is patentably distinct from the elected invention. Note the formula in instant claim 1, the formula in instant claim 65 and the Restriction in Paper No. 5 dated January 29, 2002. The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons: the elected invention and the invention of claim 65 differ materially in structure and element so much so as to be patentably distinct. In addition, a reference which anticipates one group may not even render obvious the other.

Claim 65 is withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a nonelected invention. Applicant timely traversed the restriction (election) requirement in Paper No. 5.

It is suggested that in order to advance prosecution, the non-elected subject matter be canceled when responding to this Office Action.

The indicated allowability of claim 1 is withdrawn in view of the newly discovered reference(s) to Gu et al. {U.S. Pat. 6,624,184}.

Rejections based on the newly cited reference(s) follow.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C.

112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 5, 7-63 and 74 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claims 5, 19, 20, 23, 24, 27-29, 31, 34-36, 39, 40, 47, 51, 52, 54, 58, 59, 61, 63 and 74, the structures and /or wording are illegible.

In claims 7-19, 21-23, 25-27, 29-34, 36, 37, 39, 41-47, 49-51, 53, 54, 56-58, 60-62 and 74, there appear two (2) periods after the number of the claim and therefore, the second period should be deleted.

In claims 13 and 17, it appears that something is missing since there are two (2) commas following "aryl".

Claims 23, 27, 31, 34, 39, 43, 44, 47, 48, 51, 54, 58, 61 and 63 do not conform to M.P.E.P. 608.01(m) since each claim must end with a period.

In claim 52, under the definition of R^{21} , an "or" should be added before "phenyl sulfonyl".

In claim 55, under the definition of R^{27} , an "or" should be added before "heterocyclyl oxy".

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1, 5-8, 10-14, 16-19, 62, 66, 67 and 69-72 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being clearly anticipated by Gu et al. {U.S. Pat. 6,624,184}.

Gu et al. disclose and claim specie which are embraced by the instant claimed invention. See, for example, the compounds of Table I starting at columns 35-36 (compounds 1, 13, etc.) and claim 12 of the patent.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1, 5-23, 28-34, 52-63, 66, 67, 69-72 and 74 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gu et al. {U.S. Pat. 6,624,184}.

Determination of the scope and content of the prior art (MPEP §2141.01)

Applicants claim oxazole compounds. Gu et al. (columns 8-12, 15, 27-29; and especially the compounds in Table I starting at columns 35-36) teach oxazole compounds which are either structurally the same as (see above 102 rejection) or structurally similar to the instant claimed compounds.

Ascertainment of the difference between the prior art and the claims (MPEP §2141.02)

The difference between some of the compounds of the prior art and the compounds instantly claimed is that the instant claimed compounds are generically described in the prior art.

Finding of prima facie obviousness--rational and motivation (MPEP §2142-2413)

The indiscriminate selection of “some” among “many” is prima facie obvious, In re Lemin, 141 USPQ 814 (1964). The motivation to make the claimed compounds derives from the expectation that structurally similar compounds would possess similar activity (e.g., IMPDH inhibitor).

One skilled in the art would thus be motivated to prepare compounds embraced by the prior art to arrive at the instant claimed compounds with the expectation of obtaining additional beneficial compounds that would inhibit IMPDH and which would be useful in treating diseases/disorders such as inflammatory disorders. The instant claimed invention would have been suggested to one skilled in the art and therefore, the instant claimed invention would have been obvious to one skilled in the art.
